

Electrical Disclaimer

Due to the overwhelming inconsistencies in home electrical scenarios, it is impossible for us to know exactly how your particular home panels, GFI outlets, wiring sizes, wiring patterns and other related electrical items may, or may not, comply with codes until we actually start the project.

Therefore, our pool contract price is based on a basic amount of electrical work that will be required to ensure hook-ups are completed to code. All existing electrical systems need to be ready to except new pool equipment hook-ups in order for us to pass the required inspections.

In the event that GFI outlets, Main or Sub Panels, additional Breaker Switches, Sub Grade work, or any Special Materials are required to complete the electrical phase and pass inspections, and have not been addressed specifically under contract, the homeowner agrees and shall be responsible for all additional cost involved.

By signing below, you accept the potential additional cost involved in any and all additional electrical work that may be required as described above.
